Library

ganizational meeting described the programs of Friends of the Library groups in Manhattan Beach, Gardena, and the Palos Verdes Peninsula.

IN EACH case, speakers said, the Friends group provides a communications channel between the library and the community to continually improve and expand library services.

The groups also provide an organization to accept donations for books, to encourage citizens and community organizations to donate books for the libraries, and to stimulate the general interest of the community in the library system.

Among charter members of the new group is Mrs. Dorothy Jamison, whose mother, the late Mrs. Isabel Henderson, was the city's first librarian. Mrs. Jamison also served as librarian for many years.

MEMBERS of the panel included Mrs. Marie Cohen, president of the Manhattan Beach Friends of the Library; Mrs. Katherine Hammargren, secretary of the Gardena Valley Friends of the Library, and Mrs. Jeanette Mucha, publicity chairman for the Palos Verdes Friends group.

Mrs. Grace Wright, one of the members of the first Torrance Board of Education, was panel moderator.

Traffic

Emerald Street on Hawthorne Boulevard.

EARLIER Saturday afternoon, a downtown Torrance man sustained minor injuries when he was involved in a collision at the Madrona Street and El Dorado Avenue intersection.

Edward W. Dunlap, 66, of 903 Amapola was injured when his car collided with a station wagon driven by Constance S. Chumney, 28, of 1090 W. 231st St. Dunlap told police he would see his own physician.

Brief Case Taken From Automobile

Theft of a brief case and a wallet from his car was reported to Torrance police Monday by Paul Sweeney of 353 Avenue E, Redondo
Beach.

Police said the car was parked in a driveway at 2655 Dalemead St. when the theft occurred about 11:15 a.m.
Sweeney's car was unlocked, officers said.

Mrs. Foote said the new group would meet again in about three weeks. In the meantime, interim committees have been appointed to begin drafting a charter, to solicit members, and to begin promotional work for the bond issue.

Nepalese

master's degrees in mathematics from Tribhuvan University. This is his first trip away from the Himalayan nation.

Teenagers, Shrestha said,
"are almost the same." He said differences in the standard of living between his nation and the United States create many differences between the young people of the two nations (the Nepalese, for example, have never seen television), but that at heart youngsters are very much alike.

His primary interest is in finding ways to use "simple and inexpensive things, like cardboard, in the classroom."
And, he said, he is interested in the techniques of getting a student to want to learn.

AND HIS host principals—Dr. Carl Ahee, Dr. Robert Ford, and Dr. John Lucas—have been trying to learn something from Shrestha.
Asked about that student who has to be disciplined on occasion, Shrestha explained that he first discusses the incident with the student.

On the second offense, the youngsters parents are informed of the problem and asked to assist in correcting the problem. If there is still no improvement in behavior,

Shrestha said, he will dismiss the student.

But discipline is the least of his problems as a educator in Nepal. "There are many adults who do not read or write," Shrestha said.

ONE OF THE real hopes of improving the literacy rate in Nepal, Shrestha said, can be television. He saw television for the first time last August on arrival in this country, but already he is convinced it can be used effectively for mass education.

During his Southland stay, Shrestha has visited Marine-land and Disneyland, both of which he found "very interesting."

He is enjoying his stay, mountainous homeland, learning about his chosen field, but, at the same time, just before he left Nepal for longing to return to his the United States.
